27 CANDIDATES IN FIELD FOR CIVIC HONORS

Highest Vote Ever Given Mayoralty Candidate Was 8483

What percentage of city voters will take the trouble to go to the polls today?

Statistics can figure it out approximately from the following table of election figures compiled by City Clerk Charles J. K. Cox.

In 1925, with 35,422 names on the rolls, 12,338 cast their votes for mayor. This was the greatest number of votes ever in a mayoralty election in Edmonton. In 1926 the second highest year from a declining average, 12,719 voted out of 24,293 names on the rolls. In 1927, 12,828 votes, the second largest vote ever recorded, were cast by 22,173 names. Henry was elected mayor in 1924 in 1927.

The high peak of voting was in 1927 when the polls were held on the 10th of May. # Broken Threads

By Clifford L. Webb and Ernest Lynn

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

To the home of PROF. and SYLVIA EVELL, in the suburbs, Ind., one night in October of 1909, comes MARTHA BARNES, a nurse, bearing a woman who had fainted on the train on which Martha had been traveling.

Evelle is an artist. He has a son, JIM, aged 8. Late that night two girls are born to the woman, who dies without revealing her name. The Evelles adopt the girls.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins, now growing to beautiful women, find have been named NATHANIEL and ELIZABETH and nicknamed NEDDY and BETTY. America enters the World War and Jim Evelle enlists.

Two months before he goes away he discovers that one of the twins from him and he loves her, so he wants her to love both girls equally while he is away.

The day before he leaves, Jim takes the twins to Chicago for the good time. While dining at a hotel they are approached by a woman, who says she can recognize the ring from a woman, a diamond that had been worn by the girls' mother.

When they are alone, the woman holds the ring up to the light and announces that JOHN HANLEY, who, she says, is the girls' father, had "changed the picture."

He departs for training camp and should afterward give travel orders.

THE BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

Excitement gripped Jim Evelle as he left the headquarters building and turned toward his own home.

Back once more with his own mind and parking his car in his own driveway, he was forced to answer a bombardment of questions.

"What's up, Evelle?" "Again to travel," he answered. "Where?"

"Just know." "He's going to Camp Merritt, or back out."

When they took the girls and went to the hotel in Chicago, he said to them, "I'm going to San Francisco."

"What, to San Francisco?" "Yes, to San Francisco," he said. "The girls are going to the Golden Gate. See the world."

For Jim Evelle, however, was the place where Uncle Sam sent him, until he made his own way about it. "What is it, Jim?"

"I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said.

"I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said.

"I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said.

"I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said.

"I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said.

"I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said.

"I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said.

"I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said. "I'm going to San Francisco," he said.
